

Adviser – Industrial Transformation

Brussels, Belgium

Orgalim – Europe's Technology Industries – is looking for an Adviser to join our growing Policy team in driving our work on EU policies related to Industrial Transformation. This role will be a prime opportunity to work at one of the leading industry associations in Europe, on issues that are at the top of the EU political agenda and key to Europe's industrial base.

The Adviser will report to the Policy Director, working closely with the wider Policy, Partnership and Communication teams to leverage synergies across our entire policy portfolio.

Who we are

Orgalim has a team of over 30 people - 14 nationalities - representing the interests of Europe's technology industries: innovative companies spanning the mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, electronics, ICT and metal technology branches. We are working with policymakers and stakeholders to strengthen our industries' growth and global leadership, to maximise their contribution to Europe's economy and society, and to foster a new relationship of trust between businesses and citizens.

Europe's policies related to industrial transformation – from digitalisation and climate change to supply chain resilience – are a top priority for our members. Central to this the deployment of advanced manufacturing technologies across industrial sectors. This is an area where European companies have a clear competitive advantage. You will have the opportunity to work with European industrial leaders from some of the most innovative technology companies and associations, at a decisive time for Europe, to allow our industries to thrive and unlock future green growth and prosperity.

Job brief and responsibilities:

The Adviser will be responsible for driving our work on creating the best possible policy environment for accelerating the deployment of advanced manufacturing technologies in Europe w. She/he will also work on our other advocacy activities related to Europe's Industrial Policy, supporting our Policy Director in the work of the European Commission's Industrial Forum and related areas.

The responsibilities include:

- Driving the work of our newly created Executive Forum for Advanced Manufacturing, which brings together high-level executives from manufacturing sectors to shape the EU's industrial strategy
- Developing, coordinating and proactively implementing Orgalim's advocacy plans on Industrial Policy, ensuring close coordination with our broader policy portfolio and with other colleagues in the policy department,
- Engaging directly with our members to build relationships, identify needs and deliver value,
- Drafting industry positions on relevant issues,
- Building a strong network to EU institutions and relevant stakeholders,
- Liaising with other Orgalim departments, notably Partnership and Communications, to coordinate and optimise advocacy work,

- Representing Orgalim in policy discussions with decision makers and at external events, including facilitation of preparation, reporting and follow-up to such meetings and events;

Your profile

- 5 years or more of relevant experience in the European institutions, industry, associations or consultancies,
- A university degree in law, political science, economics, engineering, or a related field,
- Strong knowledge of the European Union and its institutions, processes and policies,
- Experience working on Industrial Policy issues a strong plus,
- Experience working in policies related to manufacturing, industry 4.0, smart factories, or digitalisation of industry a strong plus,
- Customer/member-oriented,
- An excellent communicator, both written and oral,
- Ability to moderate discussions and find compromises. Experience in shaping multi-stakeholder positions is a plus,
- A self-starter with proactive mindset, strong attention to detail and a “can-do” attitude,
- Very high proficiency in English; good knowledge of other European languages is a plus,
- An effective team player with ability to work within flexible and multidisciplinary structures.

Our offer

A role in a dynamic, flexible and international working environment in Brussels at one of the leading industry associations in Brussels, and at the heart of the ongoing industrial transformation of Europe.

A competitive salary based on experiences and merits.
